

Arrays:-

⇒ It is a group of related data items that share a common name.

⇒ A particular value in an array is identified using its "index no." or subscript.

Advantages:-

1. The ability of use a single name to represent a collection of items and to refer an item by specifying the item no.
2. Enables the user to develop concise and efficient program.